

Battery energy storage in cambodia

Overview

PHNOM PENH, March 13, 2026 - Cambodia has officially launched Southeast Asia's largest battery energy storage system (BESS) with a total capacity of 1,000 megawatt-hours, marking a major step toward strengthening the country's energy stability and renewable power integration. The Southeast Asian Kingdom's official news agency, AKP, announced the launch of the BESS project in Pursat province on Friday (13 March). AKP described it as marking a. The proposed project will (i) install a 200 MW/400 MWh of utility-scale BESS at a substation in the north of Phnom Penh to supply ancillary service for stabilizing the transmission grid and improving power quality, avoiding curtailment and (ii) enhance technical and regulatory capacity of EDC for. SchneiTec Group, a renewable energy developer, announced the launch of the Battery Energy Storage System (BESS) project on March 13, 2026, marking a significant achievement in Cambodia's energy sector.
