

Direct drive full power wind power generation system

Overview

Permanent magnet direct-drive (PMDD) turbine generators avoid rotor winding losses and mechanical energy losses associated with gearboxes and couplings. Traditional wind turbines use gearboxes to step up the rotational speed (about 100x) from the rotor to the generator, which makes electrical power. This article discusses direct drive. By eliminating a failure-prone gearbox, permanent magnet direct-drive (PMDD) technology requires fewer components with only one moving part in the drivetrain, further reducing the lifetime maintenance costs of the turbine. Combined with a range of advanced control features, this delivers several benefits to customers including high energy yield, quiet operation and long-term reliability and.
