

Industrial energy storage transformation in Rotterdam the Netherlands

Overview

A new report by the National Energy Traineeship, commissioned by the Ministry of Climate and Green Growth, sheds bright light on the potential of Power-to-Heat (PtH) in combination with Thermal Energy Storage (TES) as an accelerator to make the industrial cluster in Rotterdam more sustainable. The storage project will make use of the plant's existing grid connection. But while making the announcement, the two companies were vocal about costly obstacles in the Netherlands for batteries. The Netherlands aims to generate 70% of its energy from renewable sources. The Rotterdam region's energy cluster is a dynamic powerhouse, seamlessly blending traditional fossil fuel industries with cutting-edge renewable energy and sustainability initiatives. Anchored by the Port of Rotterdam, the largest port in Europe, this cluster is a cornerstone of the continent's energy. EP NL and Eneco are realising a large-scale battery project at Enecogen's Europoort power plant, in which both parties hold a 50 % stake. The battery will have a connection capacity of 50 MW and an energy storage capacity of 200 MWh, enabling it to supply electricity for four hours. An important part of Rotterdam as Europe's Hydrogen Hub is the import of hydrogen.
