

Land acquisition for energy storage containers

Overview

Land acquisition is the backbone of photovoltaic (PV) energy storage projects. But here's the kicker: finding and securing land isn't just about square footage. It involves zoning laws, environmental. We provide the land, title, and GIS solutions needed to get battery storage projects approved, built, and operational without setbacks. Storage projects often face tight development timelines. Battery energy storage systems (BESS) look compact compared to solar farms - fewer acres, fewer panels.
