

Model solar wind power generation

Overview

This project simulates a hybrid power generation system that uses clean, renewable energy sources like the sun and the wind. This system's primary objective is to connect solar PV and wind turbines in order to produce a steady supply of electricity. This study addresses key research gaps in wind energy forecasting, including the inability of traditional statistical models to. Accurate forecasting of wind and solar power generation data is a fundamental and crucial step towards promoting the efficient utilization and sustainable development of clean energy. INTRODUCTION Need of energy plays an important role in human life.
