

Nauru solar container battery field share

Overview

The project will finance a 6 megawatt (MW) grid-connected photovoltaic solar system together with a battery energy storage system, that will be completed in 2023 and save over 11,000 tons of CO2 equivalent emissions annually. It's designed to be foldable, integrated for fast deployment anywhere. Just lay the track, pull it gently, and the solar panels will be deployed. Technological advancements are dramatically improving solar storage container performance while reducing costs.
